} u u μ v ] š Ç d Œ v • ] ϔ } v • μ ϔ ἐkvai κρ ΑΛαλλίως a Fjicklin ϔ, ἐklive dtor education, cochair; Andrew Krzysiek, principal, Zervas; Dominique Lantagne, teach Community Transitions; Liz Madden, teacher, Community Transitions; Curtis Lawy capital projects; Jessica Sankey, chief operations officer; Jacqueline Brawley, exec Communications; Michael Copland, deputy superintendent, Kurt Gazow, executive Educational Technology; Nathan Langstraat, vice peesia Administrative Services, W Community College; Brian Keeley, senior director, Facilities and Operations, What Community College; Kerri Holferty, director, Access and Disability services, Whatch Community College; Mark Peterson, directo Facilities and Sustainability; Brian Sm projects manager; Sara Ullman, planner, City of Bellingham; Brent Baldwin, develo manager, Bellingham Public Works; Brenda Hill, occupational therapist; Phoebe St teacher, Community Transitions; Laurel Taubel, paraeducator; Candice Lankhaar, member; Emma Gleckman, community member; Terry Brown, Zervas; Amy Zimme principal, Zervas; Jed Ballew, principal, Zervas; Patrick Durgan, executive chef and Kelly Bashaw, associate direct Workforce Funding Programs, Whatcom Communit Shannon Darnell, interior design director, Zervas

to }u

Analisa welcomed the group and briefly explained what Community Transitions: Iuding its relation to higher education, vocation and independent living for students ages 16-

Jeff Coulter shared the Bellingham Promise

After the introduction of he Zervas group and the capital projects team, Jessica Sankey invited the group to introduce themselværsd share why they are interested in this committee.

Why an